

Jeremy Fabinyi Executive Director, MCPS

Jeremy joined MCPS in April 2005 from Paris where he was working on international authors' rights for BIEM and CISAC.

Previously, Jeremy was the CEO of AMCOS, the Australasian mechanical rights collecting society and has served as a board member of the Australian audiovisual collecting society, Screenrights, and the Australian Copyright Council. He was also formerly Managing Director of Festival Mushroom Records and Festival Publishing.

As Executive Director, Jeremy is responsible for the day to day operations of MCPS, including the licensing of audio product, audio-visual product and for new business development.

In 2006 he was also given the title of Alliance Commercial Licensing Director with a broad remit across mechanical, broadcasting and online licensing.